

PRESERVING ONTARIO'S HEADWATERS

A community workshop with Conservation Halton

Headwaters consist of small streams and wetlands. Together, they constitute most of the length and provide the majority of the flow, nutrients, organic material, and unique habitats of our watercourses. The well being of Ontario's headwaters affects our supply of freshwater.

To help preserve these valuable components of our regional ecosystems, please join us at a community workshop to discuss:

- the importance of Ontario's headwaters,
- current policy & stewardship initiatives, and
- collaborative efforts for the future.

The workshop is part of a series being coordinated by the Ontario Headwaters Institute thanks to funding from the Ontario Trillium Foundation and extensive support from conservation authorities and many other partners, including Conservation Halton and POWER.

When 6 – 9 pm, Tuesday, March 9, 2010

Where Conservation Halton Administration Office
See map below

Agenda

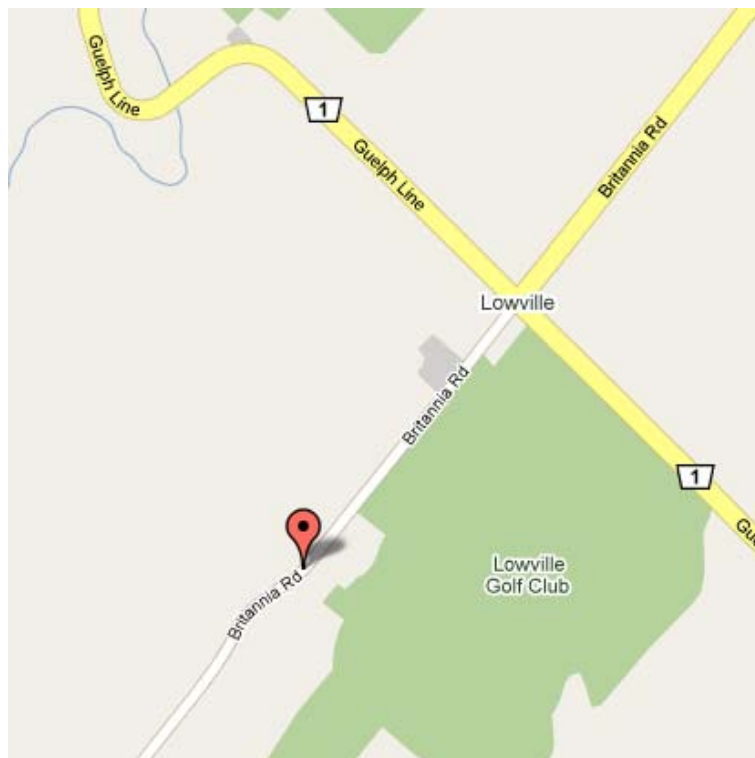

6:00 – 6:30	Arrivals, Coffee
6:30 – 6:45	Welcome and Round-table Introductions Leslie Adams, POWER
6:45 – 7:10	Preserving Ontario's Headwaters Andrew McCammon, Ontario Headwaters Institute
7:10 – 7:30	Protecting Headwaters through the Integrated Watershed Management Process Samantha Mason and Brenda Axon Halton Conservation
7:30 – 7:45	Q & A
7:45 – 8:30	Community Workshop: Strengths, Challenges, & Opportunities for Future Collaboration
8:45 – 9:00	Shared Thoughts in a Closing Plenary

Registration is free but RSVPs are requested.

Questions & Registration Andrew: 416 231 9484 or Andrew@ohwi.ca

Map

Conservation Halton
Administration Office
2596 Britannia Rd W
RR 2 Milton (Changing to Burlington as of March 12, 2010)

Project Sponsor

Event Partners

Ontario Headwaters Institute

Communication Partners

- Community Stream Steward Program
- Conservation Ontario - for Members & Source Protection Committees
- Ducks Unlimited Canada
- Georgian Bay Association
- Georgian Bay Forever
- Great Lakes United
- H2O Info Network
- Ontario Greenbelt Alliance
- OEN Water Caucus
- Ontario Nature
- MNR for interested staff & Stewardship Councils
- Plenty Canada
- Sustainability Network
- Trout Unlimited Canada
- Water Canada
- Water Guardians Network

Contact information for the Ontario Headwaters Institute www.ohwi.ca Andrew@ohwi.ca 416 231 9484